

ICE BREAKING SESSION

The Ice breaking session was not a regular session of students. It was a small interaction between the seniors and the juniors. This small gathering was completely handled by the 4th trimester students. They had organized it beautifully. There were one minute games like walking with ball and spoon without stepping on the paper floor, how many pony tails you can make in one minute esp. for boys, and many more. Also, IIPM witnessed some shayars and singers, as they proposed in their own Andaaz.

But before all the fun and games started, the seniors presented a small video of their experience in IIPM till date with loads of funny pictures of their friends and covering major events. Also, some of the seniors shared their experience & of friends to the freshers and how IIPM has helped them to grow and gave the confidence.

The objective behind this session was very simple, to give a small platform or environment to the new students in the campus and to come out of their own cocoon. More interaction with their classmates and also with the seniors.

The programme ended with loads of fun and with a message by the seniors that whenever, wherever, they (freshers) need any kind of help, feel free to contact them.

Also, there was a small dress code followed by all the students. Fourth trimester students were in White T-shirt and first Trimester students were in Funky-colorful attire. Few comments by 1st trimester students were they had never seen such warm welcome by seniors and they are a ball.

Snapshots of the session are on next page.

Snap shots of the Session:

“Boys struggling to make pony tails in their short hair”

Kanwarsingh of PGP/SS/2008-2010 trying to woo his Classmate Nayantara

Students of 4th Trimester all set for the pose

Students of 1st Trimester enjoying every bit of it